

Season 1 Episode 1

Brace Yourself

In a dome shaped laboratory in a backyard, machines are at work. Computers are sprawled all over the place and robots work for the various functions they were designed to serve. Mason is sitting down in front of his main computer where he makes a speech. Mason said, "I have been inventing in this lab in this place for a long time now. I have invented many things to help mankind prosper in the quest to advance society. Our society has greatly advanced in the past few decades. The new millennium will be here in a few months so I will take this time to reflect on my past encounters. Long ago, I discovered this lab that was built by a strange military over ten years ago. In this lab, I have invented many inventions. Some of my past inventions have proved to be quite disastrous. I do not like to sell my inventions to other people nor do I desire fame. I usually use a lab-rat that knows nothing about my inventions so I can receive an unbiased opinion. I typically use my twin brother, Jason. The two of us have been on many adventures where we encounter strange people and strange plots. Jason left for the dentist's office earlier and he has not yet returned. Something serious must have happened. If there is one thing I have learned over the years, it is that regardless of what happens, we are always alright in the end."

Jason is sitting down in the dentist's chair while the dentist is getting ready to treat him. Jason said, "So what are the specs, doc." The dentist said, "It seems that your teeth and gums are perfectly normal. However, you do need braces to keep your teeth in. I will place them in right now." Jason said, "I have always been fine in the past. This seems very odd that I would need braces." The dentist places a list of foods that cannot be consumed with braces. Jason said, "Pretty much everything I like is on this list. This is going to freaking suck." The dentist said, "I will start the operation right now." Jason screams in pain. People in the waiting room hear him screaming. A young child stays close to his mother. The mother said, "Don't worry dear. I am sure he has a special problem." Jason screams, "I don't even have a special problem and it hurts this much!" Everyone in the waiting room hears him.

Jason walks out of the clinic and he had a nice set of braces around his teeth. He walks over to Mason's lab to see what was going on. Jason walks into the front door and everything in the lab starts moving towards him. Tools fly off a tool shelf and they fly to Jason's head. Jason quickly ducks down and dodges the tools from above. Then an anvil comes flying and it hits Jason in the crotch. Jason screams, "Ow! Why does Mason keep a frigging anvil in this lab." A small robot is cleaning the floor and it goes flying towards Jason's face and it smashes him right in the mouth. Jason said, "This is a mistake. I cannot have braces. I won't live very long like this." Mason looks up and he sees part of the roof open. Mason said, "I wonder why I built that roof. It is kind of pointless. If I wanted fresh air, I would just walk outside like what normal people do." Jason is then pulled towards a machine in the center of the lab. Jason clangs onto the machine and the switch is flicked on it. The machine said, "Simulated artificial zero-gravity, activated." Everything in the lab begins to float. Mason is sitting down and he starts to float in the air. He is heading for the hole in the roof. Mason said, "I really need to get rid of that closeable hole. I must have been dazed when I made that." Mason is being levitated to the ceiling and Mason sees what happened and he reached for his harpoon gun. He aims it for the machine that Jason is stuck to and he fires at it. The harpoon hits the machine and it turns off. Everything falls to the floor. Mason walks up to Jason and he said, "Feeling light-headed?" Jason said, "The frigging dentist had to put these frigging braces on my teeth." Mason takes out his magnifying glass and he examines the braces. Mason said, "You said your dentist gave these to you?" Jason said, "Yes he did." Mason said, "Dentist's don't give out braces. That is the job for an orthodontist. I hate to be the one to tell you this but, I think you just got scammed." Jason said, "Why am I so gullible?" Mason said, "It is not your fault. Anyone that is not an expert on teeth would have fallen for this same stunt. I wish I can get them off but they look like they are stuck on there very tightly. We would need professional equipment to take those bad-boys off."

Jason and Mason go for a walk down the street. Mason said, "This can't be that bad, Jason. We have seen worse or so I think." Jason said, "I can't eat anything hard and I can't enjoy candy or treats." Mason said, "This problem will be solved soon with a high-degree of effectiveness." Jason said, "That's easy for you to say because you are not in my shoes." Some teenagers driving a silver car drive next to them in the street and they stop and say, "Hey, Metal-mouth! Yeah I am talking to you, train-tracks! Take this!" The teens throw a bag filled with carrots at Jason. Mason said, "Throwing carrots at people. I always thought it was a drink or food that people can enjoy. Not something that people don't actually like. Although, it does make more sense this way." Jason said, "Please, Mason! You have to help me! I cannot go on like this for much longer." Mason takes a look at the carrots. Mason said, "These carrots are in perfectly good shape. I do not see any kind of contamination or foodborne illness on them. These look perfectly fine. We do not have to do any grocery shopping today. This can come to our advantage. We just got some free food." Jason said, "Okay maybe. I will give this at least a few days." A police car stops Jason and Mason and cops get out and confront Jason and Mason. Jason said, "Whatever it is, I did not do it." The cops said, "Where are your parents?" Mason said, "They are out on another business trip. Why ask?" The cops said, "Are you aware that it is now illegal in this town for kids and people that look like kids to be strolling around without their parents or guardians?" Mason said, "That's preposterous. We've been doing these same activities for years and you cops have never done anything before." The cops said, "We are under orders from our police executive, Russ Powers to put all children in their homes if they are out without their parents." Jason said, "You cops are the scum of the earth." Mason said, "Don't try to tease them or mock them."

The cops handcuff Jason and Mason and bring them to their home. The cops walk them into their house and they leave. Mason said, "We need to do something about this. I am sorry to say this, Jason but I think this is more important than your braces right now." Jason said, "I understand." Mason said, "So, these are the new laws in this town? There are a few ways we can stop this, Russ Powers. All of them should involve the use of diplomacy. We can form an insurrection. We can alert the media and we can get all the kids and other people alike to start a frenzy and take out this, Russ Powers." Jason said, "Do you think we can realistically do all of that?" Mason said, "Off course we can. We have survived death-defying risks before."

Jason and Mason go out to the park and skate around on their skate-boards. Mason said, "Skating around in fresh air can allow digestive and creative juices to flow." Jason said, "We should alert everyone about this. Why don't we skate to the local TV station and bring this message to attention? Kids seem to be having fun playing around in the park without their parents around." Mason said, "Before we do anything like that, I need to research laws regarding freedoms. I may be able to find something that can help bail us out. Maybe what Russ Powers has done is unconstitutional.” Jason said, “Big words that my tiny mind will never understand. I like it. This is going to be great.”

Jason and Mason return to the lab and they go to Mason's computer. Mason said, “My computer is connecting to our dial-up internet connection. If anyone tries to phone us now, they will not get through.” A modem shoots out sparks and smoke comes out. Jason said, “That kind of sucks. I think we should try to improve this. Maybe you can start a business by selling your own internet service.” Mason said, “That may qualify as me selling my inventions. I do not want to sell my inventions to anyone.” The computer finally gets connected to the internet. Mason goes to the search engine and he searches for the law book for the region they live in. Mason said, “Here it is. The updated law book for this region. We will dig into the contents of this book by seeing what it has to offer us. This digital book is drastically large so we will use the table of contents to find the exact section we are looking for.” Jason said, “There is a lot of information in this book. How does the internet hold all of this data.” Mason said, “To put this into terms in which you can understand, magic.” Jason said, “Isn't that what everything is? That is what Mr. Dean said in his last movie to all of those kids that were interesting in his ability to pick his nose with his tongue.” Mason said, “That Mr. Dean is a sad lonely man. He is the way he is because no girls ever want to be with him. We should be finding dates eventually if we never want to end up like him.” Jason said, “I am sure we will never end up like him.” Mason said, “Here we are. Rights and freedoms of individuals. It says, 'All individuals are entitled to equal rights within reasonable limits. Everyone can have equal rights and freedoms as long as they do not violate the rights of anyone else.' We are living breathing people. I am going to print this out and use this information to expose our adversary.”

Jason and Mason do some more research on their adversary and they found his website. Mason said, “This is the greatest case of fraud I have ever seen. This guy says he stands for the 'greater good' of all people. That is a lie.” Jason said, “This guy sits on the throne of lies. How does he sleep at night. He needs to be taken back to his mama.” Mason said, “It even says he supports our community to the fullest extent of the law. Clearly that is not true. We need to take this guy out like what we have done to all those other bozos we took down over the years.” Jason said, “Heck ya! It is about time we go on another epic adventure.” Mason said, “We may need to bring some gadgets but I am sure we can figure out a plan. Maybe we can catch this guy in the act. Hey look. It says he is going to be at the local TV station doing an interview. People are welcome to view this live at the station. Millions of people watch this. Maybe this is how we can uncover this insidious plot.”

The next day, Jason and Mason show up to the TV studio where they get free tickets to see the interview live. Jason and Mason get front row seats and they watch Russ Powers walk on stage and shake hands with George Ferrier the news-reporter and anchor. George Ferrier said, “I am joined on this fine lovely day by none other than our local town politician, the police executive, Russ Powers. Russ, what is your plan for the city?” Russ said, “I have formulated plans to correct the wrongs of the city. For one, too many people have been victims of crimes in the past year due to strange oddities. I will send investigators out to find the source of these problems and figure out a way to correct this. People get victimized everyday for no good reasons at all. I also stand for the freedom of everyone...” Jason stands up and said, “That's a bunch of baloney! You have never done any of this. Instead you arrest fun-loving kids and people that support them so they will not stand in the way of your god-awful plan to make this place your own sanctuary.” Russ said, “Sit down young man.” Jason said, “No I will not. You have no power over me or anyone else. You are just a liar that sits in a comfortable office where you make everyone else work their butts off and abide by your plans to suit you the best. I've got news for you, you don't serve anyone best.” Mason said, “It says here in the official law book that everyone is free from oppressing forces. You my friend are an oppressing force and you have placed terror on many of us. You do it in the shadows so no one will find out about you.” Russ said, “Police, arrest Jason and Mason right now.” Police come into the studio and they handcuff and arrest Jason and Mason. They pull them out of the studio. Jason and Mason sit in the back of a squad car. Jason said, “What kind of plans do you have now?” Mason said, “I did not count on this. I kind of did but I did not think we would end up in the slammer.” Jason and Mason are thrown into a dark-gray prison with other people the police have arrested for the same reasons. Most of them look like kids and older people that acted like kids. Jason sees someone he knows there. Not in person but from music. Jason said, “Hey look, it's DG the Rapper.” Jason walks up to him and he said, “DG my man my friend how goes it?” DG said, “It ain't cool, that Russ Powers is a fool.” Jason said, “Even in times of darkness you still got the rhythm of rap inside of you. That is the spirit I want.” DG said, “Do I know you?” Jason said, “I am a fan of you. I own all of your albums on CD. I listen to your songs and memorize the lyrics.” DG said, “Prove it.” Jason said, “I will. Yo man I'm a gangsta dog not a pranksta dog if ya don't like da fonz then take none of my songs. I'm a wigga y'all not a bigga y'all if you don't like that...” Mason said, “I think you have done enough rapping for once. We need all the help we can get if we are going to stop this, Russ Powers.”

Mason said, “I am glad that I have met a rap sensation but I think we have more important things to deal with right now.” DG said, “Yer bro he right. We need to start a fight.” Mason said, “This insurrection will be composed mostly of diplomatic figures.” DG said, “Y'all need to hit him where it'll trip him.” Jason, Mason, and DG walk around the prison to find more people that could be of help. Jason said, “Hey Mason look, it's Mr. Dean.” Jason and Mason approach Mr. Dean and Jason said, “Mr. Dean, I am a fan of you and I need you to help us take out Russ Powers.” Mr. Dean said, “Meash. I don't know anything. That is why I am here. I was skipping around and spreading comic relief into everyone's day when they captured me and brought me right here. They asked me for reasons with weird words I do not understand. I did not know how to answer and look what happened.” Mason said, “If there are anymore freaks down here, I can bring them all together and form the biggest insurrection in modern contemporary history.” Jason and Mason see, Captain Fusion, a superhero they like. They also found the Wild Alligator Hunter from TV.

Mason gets all of them to crowd around the center of the room where Mason stands. He said, “Since the beginning of time, mankind has always been trying to prove himself that it can improve the quality of living. I say, today we become one of those great revolutionaries. We will stand against this great injustice and restore order to the city. We will be victorious in the end. When we band together, we can do anything. Collaboration is crucial to ending this on-going saga of villainy our world has experienced. I have been battling evil with Jason for many years now and we have never lost to any of our adversaries. We will not fall victim to this, Russ Powers. We need to devise a plan and stop this freak from putting anymore good people like us in prison. What does he not like about us anyways? Is it because we are different? We all possess unique talents that have granted us extraordinary rewards. Mr. Dean is a funny man that makes people of all ages around the world laugh. Captain Fusion saved our world many times back in the sixties from deranged mad scientists and other super-villains alike. We also have DG the Rapper. He entertains people with his incredible rhyming skills. We are all unique in our own way and we need to show the people of the town that uniqueness is what keeps the world going strong. Our world will be a dull place no one would want to live in if he succeeds." Everyone claps for Mason.

Jason said, "How are we going to get out of this prison. Mason said, "That is easy. Russ Powers has people that only follow his orders. He does not support unique talents if it is not obvious. He placed the lock to enter the cell on the inside and on the outside. It is possible to open this cell from either way. We just need to do something so the cops will enter. Then we can team up and steal the key and use it to open the door." Jason said, "You think someone like this would be able to build a better cell than this." Mason said, "People are becoming dumber and dumber."

Mason takes another look at Jason's braces. Mason said, "I could probably use your braces to pick up and send phone messages. Maybe I can use them to make a call to the front office and cause a distraction. There is a pay-phone in the cell. Jason and Mason go to it and Mason dismantles the machine. He rewires its parts and he connects part of it to Jason's braces. Mason said, "I am going to call the front desk and have them distracted." Mason calls the front desk and the phone rings. The person at the front desk answers and said, "Hello this is the county police department and holding area who is this." Mason said, "Yeah there's a fight going on at the Deli Supermarket on George St." The phone operator said, "We will send them there right now." Many cops that guard the cell have left. Mason hangs up and said, "We got one part of our plan completed. Now we have to do the next part."

Everyone in the cell begins to brawl. Mr. Dean throws cowardly punches at DG. DG said, "Yo Dean you ain't mean you're just a bean." Captain Fusion runs into them and he punches both of them in the face. Jason screams, "Cell brawl!" Cops come in the room with shock-sticks. They zap a few of the prisoners. Captain Fusion uses his speed powers to run quickly and quietly and snatch the keys from a guard that enters the cell. Everyone calms down and the guards leave. Captain Fusion shows Mason the key. Mason said, "Great work, Captain Fusion. I knew you were a legend. You battled evil back in the sixties and you still continue to battle evil to this very day. Keep it up."

Mason uses the key to open the cell. Mason said, "It is unlocked. We can escape." Everyone storms out of the cell and they run to the streets. Most of the guards are gone because of Mason's prank call. The guard at the front desk calls Russ Powers. Mason said to Jason as they were running with the team they have formed, "We need to go somewhere where we can have an advantage over Russ Powers. His men can capture us easy while we stand on the streets. We need to go somewhere where his power is limited." Jason said, "Why don't we go to the junkyard. That place is isolated from civilization and we may be able to make use of the place." Mason said, "That is a good idea. Mason said, "We are going to the junkyard. We may be able to beat Russ Powers easier if we go there."

The large team that consists of dozens of people run into the junkyard. All of these people are under command of Mason. Mason said, "We are in the junkyard. It is only a matter of time before Russ Powers finds us." The team looks around the junkyard and all they see are mounds of junk. Mason said, "Sometimes people throw out perfectly good appliances that could be salvaged easy as pie." Jason said, "Why do people say that anyways? In what universe is pie easy to make in?" They hear Russ Powers say, "You have done well, Mason. You have never ceased to amaze me. I have always admired your work. I like the creative spirit you possess. If you join me, you can be a powerful ally and we can rid this city of creativity from eccentric people. I always have hated it when crazy people come up with ideas and other people stick to them. Our city ends up in chaos and out of order as a result. We need to get rid of these people and only accept trends from people that are not insane. Our world will be in much better order if we did things like this." Mason said, "You are wrong. We need people of different ideas crazy or not to keep our city running. Many of our great inventions have come from crazy people. Like telephone, computers, batteries, cars, and many more." Russ said, "Crazy people tend to be people that commit foolish acts without realizing it. They are the real scum of the earth." Mason said, "We are not the scum of the earth. Let's show him."

DG jumps up to Russ and he said, "Your plan ain't cool so you shouldn't rule so we can be live and strive." Captain Fusion said, "I may be an eccentric man, but I have never broken any laws. I only seek combat against those that have broken the law. All of my villains have harmed people but not me." Jason said, "I am talented at joking and at being a goof-ball. That is what I have always been and I like it and other people like it too." Russ claps his hands and a giant crane drives towards him. Russ said, "I knew there was a good reason for me to buy the city's junkyard." Russ jumps in the crane and uses it against Mason's team.

All of the team members scatter around the junkyard so Russ cannot take a swing at all of them at once. Jason runs into a field of old metal parts. The metal parts begin to attract to Jason's teeth. Jason gets an idea. He stands up and faces Russ and he shouts, "Russ! I am the one you want! I am the one that planned this insurrection! Come and take a swing at me!" Russ drives the crane to where Jason is standing in the metal field. Jason uses the metal that attracts to his teeth to hit the crane. Jason lets the metal come near him and when it gets somewhat close to him, he turns and it hits the crane. Jason keeps doing this and the crane gets jammed and stops near a trash compactor. The claw still works and Russ figures out what Jason is doing. Russ uses the claw to pick up an electromagnet to pick up Jason and get him out of the way. Mason and Captain Fusion rush towards the jammed crane and they pull Russ out of the crane. Mason said, "It is time you surrender." Russ said, "I cannot do that. The braces are not working as well as I thought they would." Mason said, "What do you mean by this?" Russ said, "You see, I paid someone to be Jason's dentist and gave him braces. I did this because I wanted to place my plan to get weird and crazy people off the street into motion. I knew Jason and you would get in my way so I had to do something to incapacitate Jason so I would only have to deal with you."

Captain Fusion said, "You cannot win Russ. If you kill me, I will come back stronger than ever before." Russ said, "Yeah and so did Opi-Camobi in the Starchest People movies." Captain Fusion throws a punch at Russ and Russ grabs Captain Fusion's hand and he twists it backwards. Captain Fusion falls down in pain. Jason and Mason begin to tackle Russ. Jason and Mason walk up to Russ and Russ moves around as if he were luring Jason and Mason into a trap. Jason and Mason are standing in front of the trash compactor. They could slip and fall right into it. Russ keeps turning around and Jason and Mason do not realize they are in front of a trash compactor. Russ said, "I always have hated insanity that is not recognized by other people." Russ quickly pushes Jason and Mason into the pit that the trash compactor rests in. Jason said, "Mason, I think we are going to be crushed." Mason said, "I would not give up just yet. The heroes in any story that exists do not get killed. Or at least not like this just when they are on the edge of winning.” Jason said, “You’re right. I am sure there is a guardian angel looking out for us.”

Mr. Dean finds an old shock-stick in the trash and he zaps Russ with it. It is not very effective so Russ tries to grab it out of Mr. Dean’s hands. Mr. Dean slaps his hand and said, “No! This is mine!” DG comes by and he said, “You lost, bro.” The trash compactor is getting ready to crush its contents at a powerful and deadly speed. Mason looks up and he sees the electromagnet being held by the claw. Mason said, “I got an idea.” Mason grabs onto Jason and he holds Jason up high. Jason realizes what Mason is trying to do so he starts to stretch his neck so his braces will be as high as possible. Mason has a tight grip on Jason and Jason goes flying up into the magnet. Mason goes up too because he had a tight grip on Jason. At the nanosecond they get to a safe height away from the trash compactor, it violently and quickly shut its walls. Jason and Mason barely escape from it. If they were there for a fraction of a second more, they would have been killed.

Mr. Dean goes into the crane and he lowers Jason and Mason to the ground. The mayor and other city officials show up to the scene of the action. The mayor said, “Jason, Mason, always a pleasure.” The mayor goes to Russ to speak to him. The mayor said, “Russ Powers. I have been informed on this chaotic stunt you have pulled off in an attempt to prevent more chaotic stunts from happening.” Russ said, “You say we should make the city safe. So, is that not what I was doing?” The mayor said, “This city is a safe haven for all of the people that live in it. You have been relieved of your duties as the city police executive. I am sure MacDoogals would like to hire you to flip beef and chicken for them. It is a great job and if you play your cards right, you can make a great deal of money.” Mason goes up to Captain Fusion and said, “Is your hand okay?” Captain Fusion said, “I have seen worse. I need to leave. This villain has been taken care of. I need to go and find other people in danger.” Captain Fusion gets up and runs away from the junkyard. Mason said to Jason, “I never would have guessed that your braces were the work of Russ Powers. I know you want to get them removed but, I have an idea. We spend a significant portion of our money on food. If you put braces on and they don’t have to be real, we may get free food from teenagers. We could save a fortune by doing this.” Jason said, “I get your point.” Jason and Mason leave the junkyard and headed home. They can now rest easy knowing their adversary will not be able to cause them anymore trouble.
